

Postgraduate Seminars 2009

4-12-2009

Postgrad Workshop: Current Trends in Historical Scholarship

2pm Friday, 11 December 2009

Mansfield Cooper 2.03

This session will use the programme of the annual meeting of the American Historical Association (available on-line at: www.historians.org) to think about recent trends in the study of history. We will use the AHA programme as a springboard to discuss processes of putting together panels at academic conferences, and more generally getting the most from attending a conference.

For further information contact Dr Natalie Zacek

11-11-2009

Postgraduate Open Day, 25 November

If you're interested in going on to an MA or PhD, check out History's Postgraduate Open Day. Full details at <http://www.manchester.ac.uk/postgraduate/opendays/>

10-11-2009

Friday, 13 November 2009, 2pm, Mansfield Cooper 2.03

A postdoctoral fellowship provides an excellent opportunity to turn your doctoral dissertation into a monograph and/or to begin research on a second project. Recent applicants to the Simon Fellowship and to Oxford/Cambridge Junior Research Fellowships will join us to talk about crafting an excellent fellowship application, and about making the most of one's time as a postdoctoral fellow.

As with the other training sessions, although the primary audience is relatively advanced PhD students, MA and early-stage PhD students are very warmly welcomed. And there will be biscuits!

9-11-2009

Making Maps for Historical Research: Using GIS in your Third Year Thesis

This one hour workshop introduces students to how to construct their own maps through using Geographic Information Systems (GIS). It will focus on the most efficient ways of creating and designing a map for your third year thesis.

Thursday, 19 November 2009, 12 pm

Samuel Alexander, SG1